Now it's even easier to access Western Australian land and property information

Landgate has launched a brand new partnership with Land Information Brokers that will make it easier for industry and the community to source a wider range of land and property information.

Landgate's Information Access Division Executive Director Mike Bradford said it would now be possible to source Certificates of Title, Check Searches, Survey Documents, mortgages, easements and caveats through carefully selected Land Information Brokers.

"This new partnership with industry will make Landgate's land and property information even more accessible," Mr Bradford said.

"Brokers will have the ability to combine their information with Landgate's data, resulting in products that offer digital, spatial and statistical elements to their respective clients.

"Being able to access this important information through a Broker will benefit clients and the community and is a great addition to Landgate's direct customer service facilities such as the on-line shop."

Landgate looks forward to making more products available through Brokers over the coming months."
